

I support this petition and request that the FCC maintain Morse requirements for General and Extra licenses. CW is a valuable mode. Technical competence cannot be guaranteed because of rampant cheating on technical tests. Without CW there is no reasonable way to discriminate between the riffraff and those with the true desire to innovate and support the intended spirit of ham radio. People who only want to talk on the radio have their own allocation for that.